Location

Snow-covered summits. Green meadows and forests. Five villages, pretty and authentic. Only 20 minutes from Tyrol's capital Innsbruck, and easily reached via the Brenner motorway, the Stubai Valley is the epitome of an Alpine idyll. The world seems to turn more slowly as you follow the Ruetz stream from the valley entrance at Schönberg to the SPA-HOTEL Jagdhof in Neustift.

The Stubai Valley – a destination for all seasons

From spring until autumn the region is a delight for hikers, mountain bikers, paragliders and every kind of mountain fan. There are plenty of fun experiences and activities in the valley too, as well as the Alpine climate which attracts top football teams from around the world. At 1,000m above sea level, the Stubai Valley offers ideal conditions for a summer training camp.

In winter, the Stubai Valley is transformed into a snowy wonderland with not one but four ski areas as well as plenty of cross-country ski runs, cleared footpaths, toboggan runs and ice rinks. The main attraction for passionate skiers is the Stubai Glacier. Austria's largest glacier ski area offers 110km of pistes over 25 hectares at altitudes ranging between 1,750m and 3,210m, with guaranteed snow from October until June.

There are many year-round attractions in the vicinity: Swarovski's glittering Crystal Worlds, Zaha Hadid's bold Bergisel ski jump, Innsbruck's romantic historic centre with its world-famous Golden Roof ... Or call in on our Italian neighbours for a cappuccino. It's only half an hour to the Brenner Pass, national frontier and gateway to the fascinating South Tyrol.

Hosts & history

‘Hospitality born of tradition and passion’ is the best summary of the Pfurtscheller family’s philosophy.

Six decades have passed since Leo and Margot Pfurtscheller opened the Cafe Gletscherblick in Neustift in 1956. 21 years later the Jagdhof sprung up on the same site and under the same management – at that time the region’s only hotel with an indoor pool; and, then as now, the only 5-star hotel in the Stubai Valley. Over the years the indoor pool has become a 3,000sqm SPA, along with expansion in every aspect: more rooms, suites and public areas are being added all the time. A farm and a game preserve allow the hotel to serve guests its own prime lamb, game and venison.

Hospitality down the generations

In 1999, Leo and Margot’s son Armin and his wife Christina became the second generation to take charge of the hotel. Under their management, the Jagdhof has become an award-winning SPA-HOTEL with a host of wellbeing innovations that include the SPA CHALET which opened in 2014. In 2004 the hotel joined Relais & Châteaux, one of the world’s most prestigious hotel associations. Alban Pfurtscheller represents the latest generation: after travelling for several years to gain experience of working in top hotels and restaurants in Austria and abroad, he is ready to take over the reins from his parents.

The rooms

The SPA-HOTEL Jagdhof has 70 rooms, suites and apartments, all furnished in a typically Tyrolean style. The fact that no two rooms are the same is due in part to their category, but chiefly it is thanks to a thoughtful approach to interiors: old paintings adorn the walls, antique country furniture bears witness to the region's ancient traditions of craftsmanship, and rare wood carvings as well as hand-crafted timber panelling create a warm and comfortable ambience. Some of the rooms are even equipped with rustic country stoves for cosiness on icy winter evenings. Local linen and loden set the agenda for the fabrics, while spruce and Swiss pine from the surrounding forests are the dominant woods, partly because of their soothing fragrance. A number of studies have shown that exposure to Swiss pine may improve sleep by saving up to 3,500 heart beats per night, thus making nights more restful.

Fabulous views, generous spaces

Starting at 40sqm, the doubles are spacious. At up to 115sqm, the hotel's 14 suites are decidedly impressive, and some feature their own sauna, heart-shaped bathtub, walk-in wardrobe and up to three separate bedrooms. Every room offers guests a spectacular view from the balcony of either the surrounding ice-capped mountains or the hotel's 5,000sqm natural garden.

Multifaceted cuisine

Award-winning fine dining at the Hubertus Stube, fondues in Tyrol's smallest gourmet restaurant, or 5-course set meals with modern interpretations of Tyrolean classics? The choice is always delicious.

The SPA-HOTEL Jagdhof is proud of its Tyrolean roots and the Stubai Valley's country traditions, so the kitchen focuses on locally sourced seasonal foods, lamb from the hotel's own farm, and game from its own preserve. The local produce is complemented by specialities from around the world, delivered by suppliers Chef Boris Meyer knows he can trust.

A day at the SPA-HOTEL Jagdhof starts with a lavish breakfast buffet. Cold meats, cheeses, freshly made egg dishes, wholesome mueslis, yoghurts, bread, pastries and sweet titbits from the patisserie are available every day until 11am. No need to disturb that well-deserved holiday lie-in.

In the afternoon the hotel offers a selection of cakes that are included in the half board package, or guests may choose a snack from the à la carte menu and have it served to them on the terrace, in the garden, or by the pool. In the evening guests have a choice of six panelled dining rooms with beautiful table settings where they can enjoy a 5-course dinner plus salads and cheeses from the buffet.

'Feasting on cloud nine' is the motto of the Jagdhof's Gourmet Gondola, Tyrol's smallest restaurant. The former cable car gondola has been beautifully converted and now stands on the large terrace where guests can enjoy spectacular views of the glacier. The Gondola seats up to six guests for a range of fondues – from classic meat, soup-based and cheese fondues to the sweet and indulgent chocolate version.

Excellence at the Hubertus Stube Restaurant

'In addition to offering international classics, Head Chef Boris Meyer invites us on a culinary journey through Austria.' This is the verdict of the renowned Falstaff Restaurant Guide, which awarded the Hubertus Stube at the SPA-HOTEL Jagdhof 3 forks and 94 out of 100 points for 2018. Gault Millau was equally enthusiastic, and awarded the restaurant 2 toques as well as 15 out of a possible 20 points this year. So it's not surprising to come across many non-resident diners who come to the à la carte Hubertus Stube restaurant for an evening of culinary indulgence.

Wine cellar & bar

How good would the best food be without the right wine? Only half as delicious ... and the SPA-HOTEL Jagdhof's wine cellar counts among the world's best with 1,250 bins and around 20,000 bottles. As well as featuring such rarities as a Château Mouton Rothschild 1948, rare 1982 and 1986 vintage Bordeaux wines, and California's cult tipple Screaming Eagle, the wine list focuses on Austrian wines that work beautifully with the hotel's fine Tyrolean cuisine. The Jagdhof's collection is not primarily aimed at the wine expert, but caters for all tastes and offers something suitable in every price range, from less than €30 to over €10,000 per bottle. Jagdhof's 55-page wine list was awarded three of four possible stars by World of Fine Wine magazine 2016. Only two other Austrian establishments have been accorded this honour, which is comparable in significance to Michelin's famous stars.

The SPA-HOTEL Jagdhof's cosy fireplace bar is almost as legendary as the wine cellar. It is a favourite meeting place after a day in the mountains at teatime and later for aperitifs or after-dinner drinks. The fireplace bar is also the venue for live music in the evenings. Special events such as the regular roulette evenings are extremely popular with hotel guests.
